

Principles

We know good science teaching and learning is happening when...

Children are enthusiastic, ask questions and make choices in their investigations.

Children have a variety of resources/ equipment and have time to investigate.

Children work collaboratively as well as independently.

Learning is realistic and relevant.

Children enjoy science.